Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-28 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 38-45 of U.S. Patent No. 6,736,816. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it is clear that all the elements of claims 1-28 are to be found in claims 38-45. The difference between claims 1-28 of the application and claims 38-45 of the patent lies in the fact that the patent claims include many more elements and are thus much more specific. Thus, the invention of claims 38-45 of the patent is in effect a "species" of the "generic" invention of claims 1-28. It has been held that the generic invention is "anticipated" by the "species". See In re Goodman, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Since claims of the application are anticipated by the claims of the patent, they are not patentably distinct.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Mullane (6,050,997).

With respect to claims 1,10, 16,22, Mullane discloses an attachment device adapted for use with a tension link, the tension link including a tension link head (40) and shaft (42), the device comprising a shank having first and second ends (24,26,28), the first end having a securing mechanism (26) and the second end comprises at least a first expansion slot (as best seen in 24) a hollow core (34) and a central aperture (36), wherein the second end is deformable (because of the slot in 24) to accommodate the insertion of the tension link head through the central aperture and into the hollow core, and wherein the tension link head is retained within the hollow core after insertion therein, as set forth in column 6, lines 59-67; the means (44,46) for deforming, as best seen in FIGS. 3, 4B; the distal including means (120) for securing a receptacle (18) with a tension link cavity; as best seen in FIGS.14,16.

With respect to claims 2-7,11-15, 17-21,23-28, Mullane discloses all the limitations, as set forth in column 6, lines 35-67, column 7, lines 1-10, lines 22-42, column 9, lines 42-62; and as best seen in FIGs.1-16.

With respect to the method claims 8,9, the method steps, as set forth, would have been inherently carried out in the operation of the device, as set forth above.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
